Examples:

The brother cock

The centrepiece of the menu is the rooster. The aim of the event is to utilise the whole animal. The rooster is professionally carved and a poultry stock is prepared, which is used several times in the menu.

Old, local grains (spelt, forest rye) are used for the side dishes and tips and tricks for preparing a delicious oven-baked vegetable are revealed.

A tasty vegetable soup is made from the leftovers.

For dessert, you will be introduced to the secrets of baking with farina bona, which is made from roasted and ground corn and originates from the Onsernone Valley..

Poultry and vegetable soup with spelt flatbread

Coq au vin from brother rooster, forest rye risotto and oven vegetables

Farina bona cake with apple compote

Vegetarian and 100% Swiss

You prepare the vegetarian menu yourself from scratch. The vegetable stock used as the basis for the whole menu is made from vegetable waste, which helps to reduce food waste.

Swiss pulses are included in the menu, such as peas, lentils, chickpeas, beans and lupins, as well as old local grains (spelt, perennial rye).

Seasonal and regional products are also incorporated, original garnishes are created and Alpengold Sbrinz is also used.

Pumpkin hummus in baked pumpkin (beetroot hummus depending on the season)

Spiced nuts and seeds

Seed crackers (with spelt flour)

Aperitif plums (made from dried plums with walnuts and hemp seeds)

Caraway pretzels (with our own cumin)

Small salad plate with new inspirations (cauliflower couscous, lentil salad)

Must or Jerusalem artichoke soup with popcorn garnish

Sbrinz quark dumplings on a seasonal vegetable bed with crispy granola and wild rye risotto

For groups of 20 people or more, a group division can be made

Guided tours

Monastery tour

On our route through the monastery, we build a bridge from the Capuchin order that once lived here to today's centre of excellence for culinary delights in the Alpine region.

We tell the story of the Capuchin Order and its significance for the region over the years and show you what has become of the monastery, from the Alpsbrinz cellar to the scree, with a short detour into the edible landscape. An entertaining hour through the centuries.

1 ¼ hours

CHF 200 up to 20 persons
CHF 400.- 21 to 40 persons

Out and about in the edible landscape - bookable April to October

Experience the edible landscape with around 250 different types of fruit and berries as well as the herb garden. If possible, we will also show you the monastery hall, the Alpsbrinz cellar and the monastery shop on this tour.
